

Dear Ellel Africa Friends

The normal November rush is in full swing. Where does the saying 'slowing down before the year-end holidays' come from? Actually the rush only stops when we decide 'enough is enough', put our feet up, close our eyes and allow the world to rush on by without giving much thought to what's happening in the little space around us.

Before we, here at Shere House, put our feet up for a rest, we want to thank our associate team and our friends of Ellel for your amazing support. You have blessed us beyond what any words can say. You have kept us motivated and excited to serve the King of Kings. Yes, God has used you and we are thankful for that.

Perhaps you won't believe this but 2012 will be Ellel South Africa's 10th Anniversary! Has time not flown by? We would like to celebrate this wonderful milestone by giving thanks to God for His grace and goodness. More details to follow in next year's communication.

Appeal: as December is the month our offices close and we give the team a well-deserved holiday, our income is very low. Would you consider contributing that little extra to our Ellel account to keep the water flowing in our taps, lights burning, the bank happy and pay the staff? Thanks, we appreciate it.

Looking back over this exciting year, we see the hand of the Lord on us as individuals and what God has done in the lives of people who have come for ministry. We have seen God perform life changing, marriage changing and situation changing wonders in South Africa, Rwanda and Kenya. Who can dispute that we have a God that cares, heals and blesses those who draw near to Him? What an amazing privilege to be a resource to the Church in His Kingdom.

I also sense that the momentum of what God is doing will roll over into the New Year with ever increasing momentum. It is like Jesus saying: "Use what you have". We see the five loaves and the two fish but what God sees is enough to feed a multitude of five thousand men plus the women and the children who were with them. (Luke 9:13)

Maybe you should take a look at what you have. If it's too much, perhaps give some of it away. Bless others and you will be blessed. If you say, "I only have" perhaps you should ask God what He sees and trust Him for the increase in your life.

May I encourage you to pray about 2012, asking God how He wants to grow and increase your relationship with Him to extend His Kingdom? Perhaps He leads you to be equipped through our Modular School (starting in May), the 12 Day Healing and Deliverance School (September) or signing up on our online Ellel 365 training School. Our 2012 Course and events programme is available on our website. On the 10th of January we will start a weekly 8 part DVD series on Tuesday evenings called Journey through Israel.

May the Lord bless you as we approach and celebrate the birthday of Jesus our Saviour.

From the Ellel Team at Shere House
